WINNERS:

SHANGRILLA SURPRISE

1st Position
Name: Anoosheh Khan
Age: 10
City: Lahore

This moment was captured at heaven on earth, Shangrilla Resorts, Skardu. I was astonished to see a lady at Shangrilla, who met us at Islamabad Airport and I was surprised to know that her name was also Anoosheh. I was more surprised to know that she also lived in Lahore Cantt. from where I also belong. Amazingly, she also was ex-beaconite.

SCRIBBLES

When I was younger, I always showed my creativity in different ways. I was about 4, when I used to sneak into my auntie's room, to draw on her biggest wall. I used to draw checkmarks, long lines and happy faces. I imagined myself to be a kind-yet-fair teacher, that's why I drew checkmarks to appreciate, lines to fix mistakes and happy faces to keep my imaginary students 'encouraged'. I was supposed to erase the pencil marks after I was done so that no one would suspect me, but I always left the drawings there because I was so proud of them.

YOU WILL BE WONDERING

You will be wondering what's in this pic? I am gonna let you know this pic means alot to me.

Standing under the tree posing for a picture. What's a special then? The background looks like village? Yeah! that's " My village ". Maybe a parent or a teenage will be reading this post, did u ever been to your village? Our villages also have the beautiful nature such as lands the night the sunrises.

-When I was small when my father asked me to get ready, we are going to village ' I used to hide under the bed because I was afraid of those big cows or or just act, I'm not feeling well but now as a teenage i love going to my village. Now i know what does village means: fun, adventure, memories etc. Playing cricket in the big grounds, running in those big grounds feeling like flying like a bird, climbing the trees isn't sounds good? Some parent's think their children's will get hurt, I also have heard in my family but when I get hurt my parents always says me you aren't brave. If you kids get hurt "it's okay " it will make them brave, strong and then they can stand on theri feet by theri own. Nowadays parents have given there kids the modern lifestyles, if they ever go like these places they will not like, maybe some do. Your kids will remember the adventures you went on, not the stuff u bought them. Nature is a painting for us days after day picture of infinite beauty. Enjoy your life bring some fun and adventures in your life.

JURY AWARDS:

LOVE ONCE

In this pandemic despite all the negative impacts, there is some positivity. People got a chance to do what they have been procrastinating. Just like that, I got a chance to spend more time with my family as I am living away from my family for the sake of studies. I play with my cousins at our house and enjoy their company. Maybe they remind me of my childhood and I love to see them playing and laughing without any kind of worries. I find the purity and innocence in their smiles. I find the vibrance in their words and I feel happy in discovering new games with them. I concluded that spend time with the people you love until you are left with no time. This is the photo I took while they were playing cricket in the backyard.

Jury Award
Name: Iman Afzal
Age: 14
City: Lahore

It was a hot day in Lahore. There was traffic on the road, every car stood still and their engines running.

"Please buy this," said a boy standing next to the car, knocking on the window.

"Please I have no money, I haven't eaten food".

"Stop knocking on the window, go away," said a woman from the car.

"Mom can we please buy this, please, please?" said a little girl in the car.

The mother of the girl rolled down her window and said "How much does this cost?" she asked the boy. "Only 700 hundred rupees," said the boy.

"700 HUNDRED RUPEES! What's so special about this fan and why is the fan so expensive?" said the woman to the boy shocked.

"Ma'am! My mother made many handmade things. That she told me to sell so I could live. And now that she isn't here anymore and this is the last handmade thing that I have left. Now I am forced to sell this handmade fan which is the last memory I had of her," said the boy almost tearing up.

"I am so sorry for your loss. Here you go," said the woman giving a thousand rupees instead of 700 rupees.

"Madam, the fan costs 700 rupees, I am sorry I don't have any change," said the boy.

"No, no need for change, keep it. I am really sorry how I acted, I apologies for my behavior. And keep the fan," said the woman regretting what she had said to the boy.

"Thank you madam, and it's okay many people act this way, but you apologized for what you said, but other people don't apologies, so thank you," said the boy.

"Man, I really can't breathe that well" said an old man wandering the streets he once thought were beautiful.

" what do you mean, kind sir," said a younger boy whose name is Devan.

The old man responded by "well young lad you see, this street has changed tremendously as I have grown older. The last time I was roaming these streets like I am today was when I was 12 in 1968".

"WOW" said Devan

" I wish I could see how this place has changed!".

"Believe me, Devan it was a beautiful place. It had green trees and cherry blossom flowers all over the floor."

"wow what happened," said young Devan.

"Well I'll tell you what happened, There are many harmful things that humans are doing to earth. So it's hard to pick just one that is the most damaging."

" and we are rapidly changing large portions of the environment, such as when we cut down a forest to make way for a town. "

"wow, I didn't know that one person can make such a difference in this world by doing on simple thing" said devan

"yes, it is a scary thing if you think about it that' why we need to fix this immediately" said the old man as devan wondered he finally got it

" I know what I am going to do I am going to pick all the junk I see when every I am cycling or walking on the streets"

The old man had a huge smile on his face as devan said those words.

"I'm so proud of you for being such a mature 12 years old"
